WEEKLY REPUBLICAN—1867.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER—1869.

MAYSVILLE, KY., SATURDAY, JULY 20, 1907

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

A FRIENDLY TIP.

If you talk about your troubles
And tell them o'er and o'er,
The world will think you like 'em
And proceed to give you more.

Pittsburgh Post.

For if you have an item of news, please call up The Ledger, Telephone 33, and let us have it.

Johnson & Newman shipped 192 hogs to Cincinnati yesterday.

Mrs. Latie Forman of East Second street is critically ill with typhoid fever.

Mr. James McNamara of East Front street is suffering from an ulcerated tooth.

For Sale—A good piano at a great gain. Call at Hayswood Seminary.

Mrs. Frank Burgoine paid $3,000 spot cash for her recent purchase in East Second street, Fifth Ward.

Union service at the Baptist Church Sunday night. Rev. P. A. Cave will preach the sermon. All are cordially invited.

Local Agent H. C. Corran of the Standard Oil Company reports that his company had a $200 horse to die yesterday at Ewing.

C. C. Weber, the Cincinnati Architect was here yesterday in consultation with contractor
I. M. Lane in regard to the High School building.

Mr. John Walsh and family contemplate moving to Newport in the near future. We wish him prosperity in his new home. Miss Bertie will, however, remain in Maysville for the present.

It is reported from Knoxville, Tenn., that a short time since Charley Greenwood, formerly of this city, a son of A. B. Greenwood, deceased, lost his life by a dose of carbolic acid. His friends are not sure it was suicide.

Mr. William Wills, an old Civil War Veteran, is quite ill at the home of his niece, Mrs. Thomas Tolle, of the East End. He is suffering with heart trouble and rheumatism, his lower limbs being swollen to double their normal size.

Thursday night the entire clerical force at the Bee Hive were guests of Merz Bros. and enjoyed an outing at beautiful Beechwood Park where refreshments were served after enjoying the performance in the auditorium.

Hugh R. Walker, a recruiting officer for Uncle Sam's Army is quartered at the St. Charles Hotel. This city has quite a number whose condition would be greatly improved by joining the ranks of the soldier boys. The change might make a man of them.

A Maysville lady who has recently been visiting in Knoxville, Tenn., says that Robert Bissett lives in a beautiful home. He contemplates the erection of a residence of his own. Mrs. R.
Bissett, Sr., is residing in that city with her daughter, Mrs. Albert Greenwood.

After wrestling four days with the subject
the Coroner's Jury in the case of Lee Stewart returned a verdict late yesterday evening of death from an unknown cause. The investigation, however, showed a terrible state of affairs in certain quarters of the city that need keeping an eye on.

At Fountain Springs, ten miles from Flemingsburg, is Park Lake covering an area of eighteen acres. The water is clear and deep, in a number of places over thirty feet. Forty gallons of black bass were emptied into its waters recently. Park Lake is owned by a joint stock company, a number of whom live in Maysville. It is intended only for use of its owners and their guests, no outsiders are permitted to fish in it or camp on its banks. It is surrounded by mountains and it is proposed to make it one of the loveliest spots in Kentucky. It already abounds in fine fish.

Edward Tobin, Sr., died Friday evening at 10 o'clock at his home near Minerva, aged 76 years.

He leaves one brother, Andy Tobin, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Horan and Mrs. Ann Breen of Cincinnati, and a niece, Mrs. W. B. Grant, of this city.

Funeral Monday at 8 o'clock from St. James Church, Minerva.

Interment in Washington Cemetery.

The Gretna Green gives this pointer to some Maysville gents: "The language used by some Maysville hoodlums who visit Aberdeen on Sundays, is terrible. As they pass up and down the grade to the ferry they rip and roar and cut off strings of oaths several yards in length. A hint to the wise should be sufficient."

"The railing of the Pure Food Commission to the effect that all bonded whisky must be stored for four years before it can be bottled has caused a great increase in the demand for the best grade of white oak barrels," said President Robertson. "The market price of barrels now is about $4, but before the year is over the price will probably go to $4.50.

CARBOLIC acid as a summer beverage seems to be quite popular with some people. It is hot stuff, but is guaranteed to have an ultimate soothing effect of long duration. Better stick to lemonade.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal, the ablest Democratic Southern newspaper, is as bitter and merciless in its criticism of Governor BECKHAM and his machine methods, as Democratic Marse Henry any Republican paper could very well be. In a "veiled" Governor Crapps.

HENRY thusly pays his respects to the Frankfort Napoleon of politics:

If the Governor of Kentucky has made a close compact with the enemies of his party in Louisville whilst outwardly appointing Democrats to office; if he has betrayed his life-long friends into the hands of his life-long enemies; if he is running as a Democrat in the state and as a Mugwump in the city—if he has a private agreement with the Beer Trust and the Saloon League whilst posing as a Prohibitionist—wherewithal he is charged—that is his own affair.

"Old Timer" should remember the adage that "politics makes strange bedfellows."

Hitherto, at least, the Governor has shown that he understands his vocation.

He has made himself master of the situation in Kentucky as decisively as QUAY ever made himself master in Pennsylvania and PLATT in New York.

The machinery of politics could not have been more intelligently or unsparingly employed.

Hostile criticism calls this Bossism; friendly, Leadership.

Whichever it is, in respect to Governor BECKHAM, it is "the Democratic party," just as Mr. GRAINGER and Mr. BARTH, the Governor's near friends, whilst they controlled the local machinery here were "the Democratic party."

Do Physics Make You Weak?

Most physics do. Salts, castor oil, and nearly all the patent tablets and pills sold as cathartics and laxatives have a dangerous effect upon the digestive organs. In time, strength is regained but not before great danger is done to the tissues of the bowels and intestines.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not like any other physic you can take, because instead of weakening the intestinal muscles, it gives them strength sufficient to voluntarily perform their functions.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, unlike other remedies often taken for stomach disorders, does not create a habit which makes it necessary for the patient to continue its use. Physics that leave you weak, that cause you to perspire, and to feel nervous invariably do great harm.

You never experience any such unpleasant and dangerous sensations from taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a pleasantly palatable remedy which never causes griping and in all cases of constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, gas on stomach, and all other disorders arising from such ailments it quickly and permanently cures.

All druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

Money back if it doesn't benefit you.

"Tell me about her. That is so interesting."

"I love her," he began.

"And she?"

"I do not know," sadly. "I hardly dare to hope. You see, I have known her only an hour."

"You are ridiculous," she said, softly.

"I am in earnest. May I hope to be the sixth?"

"There will be no sixth," she whispered. "There will be only a first. The other five do not count."

"The machinery is fixed again," bawled the engineer from above. "If you will move the lever over a little—just a little—the car will rise."

"The boy may have been right," he said, gravely. "In case we should go up to the roof—and beyond—tell me, dear one, before we start, do you think if I should attempt to kiss you that I would be taking an undue advantage of your helpless position? Tell me?"

She shook her head enigmatically.

The car began to move slowly upward.

"Quick," she whispered. "Kiss me before we reach the light."

A ROMANCE IN AN ELEVATOR

By C. J. COOKE.

"Miss Mendon is wanted at the telephone," said the elevator boy at the Paradise flats as he stood at the door of Mrs. Currier's dining-room on the fourth floor.

Grace left the dinner table and the guests with a little sigh of impatience. The elevator was waiting, and she was at the telephone booth on the first floor in a minute.

The call was from Ethel, the irresponsible one.

"I am ill and cannot come to your aunt's dinner," said Ethel, "but I have sent my cousin Robert, who has just come from Denver. He did not want to go, of course—said it was cheeky of him to call that way upon strangers. But I made him go. The big goose doesn't know how to deny me anything. You must receive him with a welcome. Isn't it a joke?"

How like Ethel that was? Of course the western cousin would be late and embarrassed and uncomfortable. Well, no matter, thought Grace as she hurried back to the elevator. It served him right for being a big goose and letting Ethel boss him about.

"Going up!" shouted a voice in the hall just as the elevator boy closed the door of his little cage. The boy opened the door again and waited, and a tall young man rushed into the car.

"Ethel's cousin," thought Grace, for she had seen his photograph often, but she said nothing. The young man took off his hat, and Ethel admired his strong, clean face. The elevator started upward with a jerk, and then stopped with a jerk between floors. The boy pulled at the lever, but the machinery failed to work. The elevator would not go up; it would not go down.

"What's the matter?" asked the young man.

"Stuck," said the boy. He proved it by throwing the lever first backward, then forward.

"I hope you're not frightened," said the young man, turning to Grace, with a smile.

"Of course not," she assured him.

The janitor came and managed to pry open the gates on the second floor. There was a space of about a foot there, and the boy climbed up and wriggled out like an eel, regardless of the janitor's rough remonstrances.

She sat down on the boy's stool and tried to look cheerful.

"Are you in Mrs. Currier's party?" he asked.

"I am Mrs. Currier's niece. And you are Ethel's cousin?" she ventured.

"Yes; Robert Murchison. Shall we call it an introduction, Miss Mendon?"

"How did you know my name?"

"Ethel told me. I had just been looking at your photograph."

Then the elevator dropped into the basement well with a chug that caused a scream from the women who were waiting for the rescue of Grace.

Then the lights went out. The basement was dark save for the distant glow of the furnace doors that threw a red glare across the top of the car.

"Are you all right?" asked the engineer from above. Be patient. We'll have you out pretty soon."

"How many matches have you got?" asked Grace.

"Four," said he.

"Then give me two of them," she commanded.

He gave them to her, and did not release her hand, but pressed it reassuringly.

"You are the bravest girl I ever saw."

"I am trying to be brave, thank you," she said. "But which photograph did you see?"

She lit a match and held it before his face as if she wanted to see the answer as well as hear it.

"The one you had taken for Turner," he said.

"She blew the match out hastily.

"How extravagant you are!" he exclaimed. "It was not half burned up."

"What did Ethel tell you about him?"

"That he was the fifth," he replied, gravely.

"I will pay her for that."

"She doesn't charge anything," said Ethel's cousin. "By the way, is there a sixth?"

"Have you had a sixth?" she asked and one could imagine that she was smiling.

"Only a first," he said fervently.

"Tell me about her. That is so interesting."

"I love her," he began.

"And she?"

"I do not know," sadly. "I hardly dare to hope. You see, I have known her only an hour."

"You are ridiculous," she said, softly.

"I am in earnest. May I hope to be the sixth?"

"There will be no sixth," she whispered. "There will be only a first. The other five do not count."

"The machinery is fixed again," bawled the engineer from above. "If you will move the lever over a little—just a little—the car will rise."

LIQUOR SELLING

On Steamboats—Government Officials at Cincinnati Going After Them

Because of complaints, U. S. Attorney McPherson and U. S. Steamboat Inspector-in-Charge Crumbaugh are investigating Federal and State Laws preparatory to proceeding against steamboats on the Ohio river in this district upon which it is charged gambling is permitted. Attorney McPherson said: "We have not decided what, if anything, will be done."

The matter presents some legal problems.

Whether Federal officers have the authority to arrest the officers of a boat at a Cincinnati landing for permitting gambling, we have not as yet determined. Kentucky has jurisdiction over all felonies occurring on the Ohio river up to low-water mark on the Ohio side, and it may be for the Kentucky authorities to prosecute the owners."

On boats no liquor is sold nor is gambling permitted while they are tied up to the Ohio side.

As soon as the boats have left the Ohio shore, gambling and the selling of liquors begins, it is said.

An importation of sweet lemons was received this week by a Louisville fruit company from Palermo, Italy.

Nineteen young girls will attend Midway College this year as beneficiaries of the Harrison County Orphan School Fund.

Gage marks 18.4 and rising.

Travel on the passenger boats is reported unusually heavy.

The Queen City is scheduled to pass up to night for Pittsburgh.

Much of the coal which has passed down this week will go on South from Louisville.

Heavy rains in the upper valleys have brought on another rise, and more coal will be shipped from Pittsburgh, although the actual quantity will not be large, owing to little being in the harbor.

By a decision just handed down at New Orleans, it was the United States Lighthouses tender Magnolia, upon which President Roosevelt was a passenger, and not the frigate Esparza, which was at fault in the collision between these boats in the Mississippi River October 26th, 1905.

The matter presents some legal problems.

Whether Federal officers have the authority to arrest the officers of a boat at a Cincinnati landing for permitting gambling, we have not as yet determined. Kentucky has jurisdiction over all felonies occurring on the Ohio river up to low-water mark on the Ohio side, and it may be for the Kentucky authorities to prosecute the owners."

The annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association will be held at Wheeling, W. Va., October 17th and 18th. President John L. Vance of Columbus has completed arrangements for the meeting with the Wheeling Board of Trade. The biggest delegations that ever attended a convention will attend from leading points along the Ohio to the nine-foot stage and the "On-to-Cairo" movement.

Kirk & Reese shipped 450 lambs to Jersey City today and it was as fine a bunch as ever left Mason county.

A threshing machine belonging to John Fields, at work on the farm of Dr. Word, in Christian county, was blown up with dynamite which had been concealed in a bundle of wheat. The tobacco war is held responsible for the affair, as both the owner of the machine and the man on whose place it was working are non-Association farmers.

Maysville is forging to the front in more ways than one. Superintendent Smoot informs THE LENDER that a 29-foot iron bridge the product of the Maysville Foundry & Machine Shops, has been placed over a stream near Morphyville for a turnpike highway. The structure has a concrete foundation and is both substantial and pretty.

Bracken Chronicle—Miss Edna Webster Gilmore of Maysville is the guest of her friend, Miss Amy Lee Taylor, this week. They attended the Christian Assembly at Mt. Olivet Friday and spent a very delightful day. Miss Gilmore will be in Bracken about two or three weeks. She will visit Miss Doris Warnock while here, also Miss Irene Blackerby of Brookville. She is a most welcome guest to her old home, Augusta.

Sup't. George L. Schon of the Kentucky Children's Home Society of Louisville, will ask the next Legislature to amend the statutes so as to make desertion of family a felony. Under the present law it is only a misdemeanor to abandon wife and children, and generally the culprit escape with a fine and a small term in the workhouse. A hospital for crippled children is to be erected at the Home.

STATE COLLEGE of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky.

The State College of Kentucky offers the following courses, viz.: Agricultural, Mechanical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Minlog Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Normal School, Classical and seven scientific courses, each of which extends over four years, and leads to the Bachelor of Science degree, organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty, consisting of Professors, Assistant Professors and Instructors, numbers over fifty.

County apprentices receive free tuition, privilege of residing in dormitories, food and lights and travelling expenses if they remain ten consecutive months or one college year.

The laboratories and museums are large well equipped, comprehensive and modern. Military science is fully provided for as required by Congress.

Graduates in the several courses of study readily find employment with liberal remuneration. The total number of matriculants last year was 1,000, each department having its own hall for physical culture, at $5 per week.

Sommer schools are provided for in pedagogy, engineering and instruction in science and the liberal arts.

The attendance upon the Normal School in connection with the Department of Education last year more than doubled that of any preceding year. Three new buildings, namely, one for the Department of Education, one for Agricultural Science and Library Hall, are in process of erection and will be completed early in the next collegiate year.

For catalogues, methods of obtaining appointments, information regarding courses of study and terms of admission apply to JAMES K. PATTERSON, Ph.D., LL.D., President.

Or to D. C. Frazee, Business Agent, Lexington, Ky.
Fall term begins September 12th, 1907.
